Ever since we switched to Microsoft products, our high school computers crash, freeze, require a reboot and etc' more then ever.

This generally cause tremendous trouble simply because we keep loosing our documents and works. Unless you save religiously every minute, that is.

Not to mention that all those security holes we keep having to patch are a major pain in the neck. Trojan here, E-Mail virus there... it reached the level where you dont even have the OPEN the letter to get infected. Its enough that you're online!

I'd rather have my school receive alternative products then Microsoft products. Not to mention that having them "giving away" Microsoft products will only increase their allready highly influencive monopoly.

Alternative programs are designed to be able accept Microsoft files, but Microsoft programs are NOT designed to accept files from alternative programs properly.

So, for a better future - No thanks. We dont want Microsoft here.
